The Financial Planning Process

AVALON's aim is to ensure that you are provided with the advice tailored to your needs.

The steps that follow provide an overview of how this process is effected, and ensures that the proper disclosure of the risks associated with your particular investments are explained and that you provide us and your adviser with the correct information about your actual circumstances so that we are able to provide you with the appropriate advice to meet your specific requirements.

Step 1

You have been provided with this FSG. In the case of any general advice that has been provided, you will have been provided suitable general advice warnings.

In order that your Adviser can provide you with the most appropriate advice, you will be asked to provide information about your personal circumstances. This will include information about your short and long term goals & objectives and your current financial situation.

Step 2

The information collected is recorded in a Client Data Form. This together with a Client Risk Profile assessment enable the Adviser to understand your needs and objectives and to analyse and determine the most appropriate advice for your particular circumstances that are in your best interests.

Step 3

Consideration is also given to the identification of any financial issues that may be present or that may arise in the future such as long-term illnesses. The solution will be tailored using well researched products from the AVALON Approved Product List (APL) and matched to your relevant personal needs and objective, matching the portfolio to your risk profile and protecting those plans once put in place.

Step 4

A Statement of Advice (SoA) is then prepared and provided to you by your Adviser.

This SoA sets out various recommendations made by your adviser, the basis on which those recommendations are made and, amongst other things, the remuneration payable for researching, designing, implementing and maintaining those products and services recommended.

Step 5

Subject to your agreement and signed instructions, the recommendations will be implemented.

Step 6

The information contained in the SoA, will be reviewed and revised at regular intervals as agreed by you, or when your particular circumstances change.

Documents you may receive

You may receive one or more of the following documents when the Adviser provides advice and/or any recommendation(s) on investment and/or risk insurance products to you:

1. Statement of Advice (SoA)

The SoA may be a full advice document given to clients where personal advice has been provided with that advice taking into account your current financial position, goals, objectives, as well as your short, medium and long term needs.

You must confirm your adviser's assessment of your personal financial circumstances, goals and objectives and risk profile as well as confirming acceptance of the advice provided through the SoA.

Key information contained within the SoA advice document may include:

- Your personal and financial circumstances;
- Your stated goals and objectives;
- The advice given;
- The basis on which the advice and/or financial product recommendations are given;
- The risks and/or disadvantages associated with the advice/recommendations;
- Information about remuneration or other benefits that may be received; and
- Any benefits, interests or associations that may have influenced your adviser in the provision of the advice.

Incorporation by Reference (IBR)

An SoA may refer to other documents, this means that the document referred to is part of the SoA. You must read any documents referred to by the SoA as they are part of the SoA.

Limited or scaled advice

Some SoAs may be scaled advice SoAs where the advice contained is limited to specific advice either requested by you the client, or limited because you did not want to provide personal details or refused the complete advice offered.

In these circumstances you will be required to acknowledge these limitations.

2. Record of Advice (RoA)

If your adviser has previously provided you with a SoA and then provides you with related additional advice, generally in the form of product advice and inclusive of periodic reviews (which takes into account your relevant personal circumstances), you will receive written confirmation of that advice. This may be in several forms but is still considered a RoA and will be added to your client file along with any notes.

If further or additional advice is provided by your adviser, you are able to obtain a written copy of that advice (if it has not already been given) by contacting your adviser and requesting a copy in writing. You may make such a request up to seven years after the advice has been given.

3. Supplementary Statement of Advice

SSoA represents additional advice to be incorporated as part of the original SoA. The SSoA is used to provide further advice to a client with whom a SoA has previously been provided, but the advice is to supplement advice already provided.

Its usage avoids unnecessary duplication of information already provided to you the client. However you are likely to be required to sign a confirmation that your circumstances have not changed materially from those confirmed in the previous SoA.

4. Product Disclosure Statement (PDS)

Should your adviser make a recommendation to you about a particular investment and/or risk insurance product or offer to arrange the issue of a financial product on your behalf, you will receive a PDS, prepared by the product provider.

The PDS will contain information that will assist you in making an informed decision about that product and should be viewed as an extension of the SoA.

The PDS usually includes information about product features, risks that your adviser should go through with you in detail, the costs associated with that product as well as details of other fees and charges which may apply, including management expense ratios (MER's) and remuneration payments to Advisers.

Usually the PDS will contain the application document that you will be required to complete in relation to that investment or risk product.

Further information about the advice and / or recommendations

Will advice be given that is suitable to your needs and financial circumstances and in your best interest?

Your adviser is obliged by law to do so and must be able to demonstrate to you that a reasonable basis exists which supports the personal advice they provide to you, and that that advice is in your best interest.

To be clear, your adviser will need to ascertain your goals, objectives, financial situation, relevant personal and financial circumstances and needs before he or she recommends any advice, investment and/or risk insurance products or services to you.

You will be asked to provide accurate information on the above and to keep your adviser updated on any changes to ensure the advice provided and products recommended remain relevant to your personal circumstances.

You have the right not to divulge any information should you not wish to do so. In that case, your adviser will warn you about the possible consequences of not providing relevant personal and financial information including limitations on the advice which can be provided.

You should thoroughly read the information in your SoA before making any decisions relating to the advice or any investment and/or risk insurance product or service.

What should you know about any risks of the advice, investment and/or risk insurance products or services that are recommended to you?

Please be aware that there are risks associated with investing in financial markets which may adversely affect the value of your investment(s).

Your adviser will explain to you, and fully outline in the SoA, both the generic and specific risks of the financial products recommended to you.

Product Disclosure Statements will also outline the key risks associated with that particular product being recommended. You must read and consider both the Risks & Disadvantages section of the SoA in conjunction with the relevant PDS material before proceeding to purchase any product recommended.

If you feel that you need further clarification in any area of a product or the advice contained in the SoA, please ask your adviser prior providing your confirmation to proceed.

Does AVALON provide Tax advice?

No. Although AVALON and the majority of its advisers are Registered Tax Advisers with the Taxation Practitioners Board (AVALONfs Pty Ltd TPB RN: 25313984) AVALON does not provide taxation advice. If you must rely on any tax examples within the SoA, you should seek your own taxation advice from a tax specialist.

Your adviser may also recommend a qualified accountant for this purpose.

In some cases your adviser may be an accountant. In this case taxation advice will be outside of the financial planning advice provided by them under AVALON within the SoA.

Reviews

Markets, investments, and your personal and financial circumstances can change over time.

Reviewing your goals, circumstances, advice, investments and/or risk insurance products held, is vital to ensuring that you remain on track to meet your short to long-term objectives.

A comprehensive personal review service is offered by your adviser to all clients, which will update advice in line with your ongoing needs, and implement any changes agreed with by you.

AVALON requires its Advisers to provide regular reviews to each client on a regular basis preferably annually.

A fee may be charged for ongoing advice and management of your financial affairs dependent on the type and the complexity of the service being provided by your adviser.

Your adviser will provide you with full details of all fees before doing any significant work for you and these fees will be explained in a meeting and detailed in the Statement of Advice (SoA).

If your adviser provides an ongoing service for which you are invoiced and you pay regularly for those services, your adviser will provide you with a detailed breakdown of these ongoing fees and the services provided in the form of an annual Fee Disclosure Statement (FDS).

If you and your adviser have entered into an Ongoing Adviser Service Fee arrangement (OASF), they must also request you to 'Opt-in' to this OASF on a biennial (each two year period) basis.

Remuneration received by your Adviser, through AVALON

AVALON and your adviser fees.

As AVALON is the licensee and is responsible for all advice provided to you and therefore AVALON will receive any and all monies whether directly from you the client, or from a product supplier.

Therefore, ALL invoices from your adviser must be remitted directly to the AVALON adviser trust account.

AVALON has no conflicted remuneration and receives no bonus investment commissions or volume bonus' from any product providers. It also receives all commissions from life insurance companies in relation to risk insurances.

Your Adviser does not share any part of their fee or commissions with AVALON, that is, AVALON remits 100% of all fees and commissions due to your adviser.

Your adviser does pay AVALON a Monthly Adviser Fee (MAF) to remain authorised with AVALON.

This fee is a flat fee and has no correlation with the amount of business written nor any Funds Under Management (FUM) or volume of business on risk products or platforms.

AVALON is contractually able to deduct the MAF from any fees or commissions owed to the adviser.

What remuneration will your adviser receive?

This is always agreed between you and the adviser.

The cost of providing advice, a financial product or service to you will depend upon the nature and complexity of the advice, financial product and/or services provided. Generally, whenever your adviser provides a recommendation for an investment and/or risk insurance product or service, your adviser may be remunerated through a combination of initial fee for service, Ongoing Adviser Service Fees, insurance commissions and some legacy ongoing product fees (grandfathered commissions).

The fee process you may undergo with your adviser:

- a) Meet adviser and accept advice which includes an invoiced initial fee and commission;
- b) Invoice payment is remitted to AVALON Adviser Trust Account;
- c) Any Ongoing Adviser Service Fee is received into the Adviser Trust Account;
- d) Commission payments are received into AVALON's Adviser Trust Account;
- e) AVALON pays 100% of amount owed to the adviser, less any monies owing to AVALON.

Ongoing Adviser Service Fee (OASF)

If an OASF is to be charged, the Fee for Service may be based on either:

- A fixed dollar amount;
- A percentage of the value of funds initial investment;
- A determined amount, based on the number of hours spent developing your advice document; or
- A combination of these.

Any ongoing services will be detailed in the SoA or a separate document.

The OASF is likely to be deducted from a particular account or product. Ongoing services may include such things as; portfolio maintenance or regular reviews), which may be calculated as a percentage of your total investment balance.

Your adviser will provide you with further details where relevant and these will be detailed in the SoA.

Your adviser will also provide you with a detailed breakdown of these ongoing service fee arrangements on an annual basis in a fee disclosure statement (FDS).

Alternatively your adviser may invoice you annually but will still provide you with an FDS at the end of the year.

Initial Adviser Fee(s)

Any fees payable by you will be detailed in the Statement of Advice provided by your adviser.

All Initial Fees will be paid directly to AVALON. If for investment or superannuation advice this may be cheque, credit card or EFT, or paid via the issuer of the investment product(s), which your adviser has recommended.

This payment may be directly by you, or deducted from the initial amount you have invested with the relevant product provider at the time the investment product is placed and issued to you.

This fee should not be confused with contribution fees which, for the most part, no longer exist.

With risk insurance products, this commission is not deducted from the insurance premium as it has already been priced into the product. It is paid to AVALON by the relevant insurance provider and is calculated on the premium payable.

All insurance product have upfront commissions and ongoing commissions which in certain circumstances can result in a conflict of interest.

Conflicts of Interest – Risk Products

Where your adviser advises you to take out life insurance, they will receive commission based on the premiums charged by the product issuer for the insurance you purchase. Therefore the more insurance you purchase, the more commission your adviser receives. Countering this is that our advisers work in your best interest and receive no bonus' for providing a particular product.

In the case of personal insurances, commissions your adviser is able to reduce the amount of commission they are entitled to and you may want to discuss this with your adviser.

Grandfathered Investment Product Fees (GIPF)

From the 1st of July 2014, if you are a new client to AVALONfs Pty Ltd your adviser will not receive any ongoing product fees from any investment products invested in by you.

GIPFs are being phased out. However, if you have this type of investment product and an Ongoing Product Fee is being charged, the fee is paid to AVALON by the product provider.

If it is legally possible to pass on an ongoing investment product fee to your adviser, it will be passed on to them without any split of this fee with AVALON.

The table below outlines the range of ongoing legacy investment product fees your adviser may receive via AVALON in respect of various types of legacy investment, including superannuation products offered.

Legacy Products	Ongoing Fee Range
Superannuation	0 to 2%
Annuities	0 to 2%
Managed Investments	0 to 2%
Other Investment Products (e.g. Investment Bonds)	0 to 2%

The fees above are based on AVALON's experience only, as AVALON is a post FOFA advice group, that is post the dates shown at the bottom of page 4.

In some cases these legacy products may charge a contribution fee.

You should ask your adviser whether you have any of these legacy products having these type of fees being paid and when they are likely to stop, if they already haven't, and if you are being charged a contribution fee, demand that this be stopped immediately.

Referred Clients

Should you be referred to your adviser by a third party, (e.g. an Accountant), the third party may receive a fee, commission or other benefit for that referral.

This fee comes out of the fees received by your adviser and does not represent an additional cost to you.

You will receive more detailed information concerning any referral fees in the SoA.

Broker fees

AVALON may receive a payment from a share broker for an Initial Public Offer or some other listed product through the ASX or foreign exchange. AVALON may pass these on to the adviser if it is possible to do so under the law.

All fees are described in the SoA provided to you.

Related Parties

From time to time your adviser may make a recommendation in relation to a Separately Managed Account or Managed Discretionary Account (MDA) managed by PacReef Asset Management Pty Ltd AFSL: 488045 (PacReef) which is a fund manager) and issued by a platform such as HUB24, xPlore or Wealth02. AVALON Directors, staff and advisers may own shares in PacReef and therefore may receive dividends, director fees and/or intellectual property fees from PacReef.

Advisers are prohibited by law and the Code of Ethics from receiving conflicted remuneration IE commissions or ongoing commissions or volume bonus from any companies, including PacReef and therefore PacReef does not pay commissions or other forms of bonus' to advisers or AVALON.

PacReef does provide AVALON with sponsorship funds in order that AVALON is able to run its Professional Development Days (PDDs) and conferences to maintain adviser education.

Active Sponsors

AVALON may also receive a sponsorship monies or other benefits from other product providers in return for AVALON granting rights such as being recognised as a sponsor and the ability to present at PDDs, and promote their services, other than their products. AVALON warrants that it will not promote a sponsors product over another product issuers product and goes to great lengths to ensure that all advice is unbiased.

Neither does sponsorship preclude other non-sponsor product issuers from coming to these events or discussing their products with our advisers.

Recent non-related sponsors have included CommSec, Charter Hall, LaTrobe, Adviser Logic, BT, Clearview, AMP Capital and Centuria.

Sponsorship monies do not form part of the profits or earnings of AVALON and are used solely for professional development, research and IT support for the advisers.

Fees associated with these sponsorships help AVALON offset the organisational costs and running costs of its conferences and serve as a valuable education and training tool for our Advisers.

Any and all sponsorships are recorded within AVALON's Gifts and Benefits Register.

Adviser Incentives

Neither AVALON nor its adviser receive any product based volume bonus commissions or incentives based on funds under management.

These compensation arrangements meet the requirements specified by the Corporations Act and ASIC from time to time.
